

Labor, Owner, and Contractor Construction Summit

The Construction Summit is a group of owners, contractors, and organized building trade unions. The group's common aim is to work toward establishing Southeast Michigan as the premier region in the world for doing business in construction. It is the mission of the group to set high construction standards for continuous improvement in safety, quality, productivity, customer service, and labor training. The Construction Summit is addressing many tough issues that affect the construction industry, and is currently establishing policies and programs for drug testing, job-site safety, and craft jurisdiction resolution. The Construction Summit has developed a forum that establishes relationships and policies within the owner, contractor, and labor community. It has become a group having trust and understanding of each other's concerns.
